Given the uncertainty surrounding the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, the Maryland Association of Boards of Education (MABE) has made the difficult, but conscientious decision to move the in-person Annual Conference to a virtual conference.

The Annual Business Meeting will be held on Wednesday afternoon October 14th and all professional development will occur on Thursday, October 15th. This was not an easy decision; however, ultimately, the health and safety of our members, exhibitors, speakers, and staff led us to conclude that cancelling the face-to-face meeting was the safe, responsible action.

While we look forward to a time when we can reconvene the MABE community face-to-face, the Conference Program Committee and MABE staff are exercising their creativity to deliver an experience that will offer valuable content and professional development opportunities. We will be reaching out with specific communications in the coming weeks.

Thank you again for being a valuable member of the MABE community. We hope you and your loved ones are safe and well during these unprecedented times.

With sincere thanks for all you do,

Martha James-Hassan, President
Frances Hughes Glendening, Executive Director
